Narrative Summary:

EPA REGION 6, ISSUES LARGEST PENALTY AGAINST ULTRAMAR DIAMOND SHAMROCK FOR UST VIOLATIONS: On November 24, 1999, Ultramar Diamond Shamrock agreed to pay the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) $375,866 in settlement of EPA's January 1999 administrative penalty order for violations of federal and state underground storage tank regulations. Ultramar Diamond Shamrock, headquartered in San Antonio, Texas, was cited for its failure to report and investigate suspected releases, conduct adequate leak detection and monitor corrosion protection systems on metal components of the underground storage tanks containing gasoline and/or diesel fuels. The Order involved nine stations in Texas and two in Arkansas. A majority of the violations occurred while the stations were owned by Total Petroleum, Inc. Ultramar Diamond Shamrock acquired these stations and has been cooperating with EPA to correct the violations and prevent them from occurring in the future. Failure to comply with the underground storage tank requirements can allow leaks from tanks and/or piping to go undetected and contaminate the soil and groundwater, or cause explosions. Ultramar has 60 days from the effective date of the Consent Agreement and Consent Order to pay the penalty. This is the largest penalty for UST violations in Region 6.
